SECOND DAY OF ENCAMPMENT

The State Troops Are Being Worked Hard at Fort Constitution

The second day of the New Hampshire national guard coast artillery began at 5.30 this morning with the bugle call of reveille.

The corps of militia men now in camp is composed of Co. 1 of this city, 47 men Capt. C. B. Hoyt, First Lieut. F. J. Harriman, Second Lieut. I. H. Washburne, Co. 2, Laconia, 57 men, Captain Walter Burgess, First Lieut. Frank L. Dame, Second Lieut. Joseph Lavertue, Co. 3, Exeter, 45 men, Captain A. E. Ross, First Lieut. C. E. Robinson, Second Lieut. Walter Farnham, Co. 4, Dover, 55 men, Captain Frank W. Butler, First Lieut. Frank E. Ross, Second Lieut. Charles Crowley. The camp at Fort Constitution is with the 120th company of regular army coast artillery.

The routine of today comprises mess call for breakfast at 6.45, followed by artillery drill with the big guns and second mess call at noon. After dinner the officers meet for instruction and the men get more drill with the guns.

At six o'clock there will be a dress parade and at 8.15 lecture in the post library. The lecture will be followed by the bugle call of "taps" which means "lights out" and the day will be over.

Encampment Notes

From the time the State soldiers arrived at the camp they were made to understand that it was work that they were there for and as near as possible the conditions will be made to represent war times. There will be general instruction in all branches of work and it will last all day and sometimes into the night for there is expected to be some night attacks to be repulsed.

The object of the State artillery is to protect the forts from attack from land and to protect the regulars in their defense of the forts with the big guns. With this in view they will be given instruction in field artillery and also in the use of the big guns. They will have instructions in repelling attacks from the land side etc. All will be under the officers of the regular army.

Today a military band from Fort Williams in Portland Harbor will arrive and this will be stationed at the fort during the encampment.

Thursday Governor Henry B. Quincy and staff will inspect the battalion, and in his honor extra work will be given. He and his staff will have apartments at the Wentworth Hotel.

Adj. General H. B. Cilley will however be at Forts every day and watch the work of the State soldiers.

Major E. Ray Shaw of Nashua of the quartermaster department is in charge of this branch of the work for the battalion and he is in the camp with the battalion. Lieut. Clarence E. Rowe of the quartermaster department will assist Major Shaw. The medical department will be in charge of Captain Russell Wilkins.

Monday there was a large number of spectators at the camp, and watching the work of erecting tents and so forth.

The heavy fog which prevailed all day Monday was anything but pleasant for the first day's camp. At times it was so thick that objects could not be distinguished a hundred yards off and it was not until late that Fort Light was seen at all.

The regulars are in camp with the State troops that is instead of living in the barracks they are in tents and they will have some of the same work as the State troops.

Captain McBride is a very efficient officer and the State troops will be much better soldiers at the end of the week. They are a willing lot and expect that the encampment will not be a picnic.

The State soldiers were given some ideas of the discipline of the regular army on Monday when they arrived at the Co. 1, Artillery in this city and every bit of their equipment was overhauled for liquor and ammunition. Their clothes were then searched. Lieut. George A. Wildrick is officer of the day.

First Lieut. George A. Wildrick will be the lecturer tonight. His topic is "Position Finding System." The steamboat General Wilson from Portland with the Fort Williams band for this military encampment is delayed by the fog and has not yet entered the harbor.

THE REBELLION IN PERSIA

St. Petersburg Hears That Insurgent Troops Are in the Capital City

St. Petersburg, July 13.—Reports received from Tehran today state that 1,000 Persian Nationalists entered the city shortly after dawn.

Their entrance precipitated a battle which raged through the streets, the Russian Cossacks occupying the city square and surrounding streets. The Shah was momentarily expected to take refuge in a foreign legation following the outbreak of hostilities, for reports came into Tehran that reinforcements were on their way to join the rebels.

The Persian foreign minister failed in his efforts to effect a friendly settlement with the nationalists and when negotiations were broken off the rebels at once took up their advance from their bivouacs about the city.

At least two foreign legations have sent notes to the leaders of the Nationalists stating that the rebels must remain entirely upon the defensive and must submit to negotiations, at any time feasible, tending towards peace.

JEFFRIES TO FIGHT JOHNSON

Toronto, July 13.—James J. Jeffries was sorely vexed when he was shown the report from Montreal printed all over the United States that he would not meet Jack Johnson in a contest for the heavy-weight championship title of the world.

Jeffries was under the impression that the alleged interview was sent abroad with the intent to hurt him in the eyes of the American lover of pugilism and to injure his value as a theatrical attraction. He was emphatic in his contradiction of the statement that he would not meet Johnson.

He said with anger in every tone: "The statement that I have repudiated my promise to fight Johnson is absolutely untrue."

Then he hurried out to the park, where he had an engagement. There his manager and sparring partner, Sam Berger, dictated this statement: "There is absolutely no truth in the statement circulated. Neither Jeffries nor myself gave out any interview from which such a story could have originated. Some weeks ago Jeff made a statement to the public that at the termination of his theatrical contract he would be ready to arrange a meeting with Johnson. This time is only two weeks off, and as has always been his policy with the public he will make good his promise by posting a forfeit. We hope then to satisfy those who have doubted his intention to defend his title as champion of the world."

MORE FIGHT IN OLD YORK

It is stated that a petition is being circulated at York by those in favor of the division of the town of York, asking for an injunction against the referendum act.

A petition bearing upward of 13,000 signatures has been filed with the secretary of state invoking the referendum for a special election. This is claimed to be in full accord with the requirements of the Maine constitution, and the nature of the technicality on which it may be attacked is not announced.

GLIDDEN TOUR STARTED ON LONG RUN

Detroit, July 13.—Half a hundred automobiles, thirty of them entered as competitors for the Glidden, Hower or Detroit trophies, left on Monday morning on the sixth annual tour of the American Automobile Association. To see the start of the run of 2637 miles which will include visits to Chicago, Minneapolis and Denver with the finish in Kansas City, a large number of people gathered in Cadillac square, where the competing cars are parked since they were turned over to the contest committee of the A. A. several days ago. And as each car with its passengers got away on the long jaunt it was given a parting cheer. The trip today was to Kalamazoo, which is 142.3 miles from Detroit.

The first car of the caravan to get away was the pilot occupied by Secretary Dai H. Lewis of the contest board. This car left Cadillac square at 7.30 o'clock and carried a load of confetti with which to mark points in the route where the tourists might be in doubt as to the proper direction. Lewis has been over the route; in fact, it was he that laid it out during the spring months, so he is familiar with the roads. The tour is the longest ever undertaken by the Association, and it is thought to be the hardest on the men and machines. Soon after Lewis went away down Michigan avenue activity began to be noticeable about the group of competing cars. Chairman Hower of the contest board was on hand to assign the observers to the competing cars give them final instructions and see that the cars equipment and passengers conformed with the rules. The observers were instructed to make a careful record of the performance of the cars. Penalties are to be inflicted for lateness at night controls, repairs and replacements and for deteriorations that may appear in final examination at the end of the tour. Penalties are to be in points and tenths of points.

None of the drivers were permitted to touch their cars until a half hour before ten o'clock, the starting time. Then there was much activity in stripping off the canvas covers stowing them away and getting ready for the trip. The cars looked as if their owners expected hard travelling for nearly all of them carried ropes and blocks, shovels, axes and other tools to be used in case the cars are stuck in crossing the plains. There were big six cylinder touring cars and small runabouts side by side in the parking space. The small cars however, are given a little advantage in running time. The score of non-competants including the cars of the officials and of the newspaper men following the tour, and several machines entered by the companies and carrying quantities of spare tires, stoc-about the square waiting for the competing machines to be sent away, and followed the last car off.

SHORT AND UGLY WORD

Washington, July 13.—Concerning Major Larkin's letter questioning the efficacy of Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles in declaring that the Major's claim that his regiment recaptured Light's Battery was false, challenging Gen. Miles to appear in a joint debate with him before a committee of the loyal Legion or the Grand Army of the Republic, Gen. Miles says: "A reply will be made at the proper time. The statements of Major Larkin are so utterly devoid of truth that they are hardly worth answering. I have written him to his effect."

How to Treat Dandruff

Just reason it out for yourself. Out of the sebaceous glands on your head constantly comes an oily secretion to moisten the scalp and give a gloss to the hair. Floating in the air are millions of fine particles of dust, dirt and disease germs. These settle upon the head, mix with the oily secretion, and in a very short time dandruff and scales are formed. These scales stop up the pores, so that the hair roots are not nourished as they should be. And then the hair becomes sick, dies and falls out. Some people allow all this dirt and disease and filth to accumulate on their heads for weeks or months without washing the scalp and hair. Most cases of baldness come from this careless neglect. Common soap is not the proper thing to use, for common soap leaves the hair too dry, and does not leave the scalp moist and supple. Many people are now using Birt's Head Wash, which differs radically from ordinary soap. Birt's Head Wash, first of all, goes right down to the bottom of the dandruff and scales, and puts the scalp in fine condition. It leaves the hair with a silky, glossy, lustrous sheen, but never dry and harsh. This is because of the small quantity of fine Coconut Oil it contains, which takes the place of the natural oil supplied by Nature. You can safely throw away all your hair tonics, renewers, growers, and what not, and use Birt's Head Wash two or three times a week for a month. Then you will come to realize what it means to have a healthy scalp and beautiful hair. Birt's Head Wash contains the following ingredients: Refined Soap, Glycerin, White of Eggs, Cocaine, Coconut Oil and Salicylic Acid. Price 50c.

BIRD TOOK FISH POLE

Canton, Va., July 13.—Setting his fish pole so it would hold in case a bullhead should bite while he was at lunch, Lynn Billard of this place had an experience on Monday at Lake Neplan that he says he won't forget.

While at lunch, some distance from the spot, he saw a splash, then a great fishhawk rose, struggling from the lake's surface with a big bullhead in its talons. Following the hawk and bullhead went Billard's pole and pole, which disappeared with the winged thief.

LOST RIGHT HAND IN RUNAWAY

William Irvin of Hampton Falls Victim of Accident at Kensington

Amesbury, July 13.—William Irvin of Hampton Falls lost his right hand in a runaway accident at Kensington, N. H., late yesterday afternoon. He was accompanying Thomas Cogger of Hampton on his rounds collecting milk for a Boston concern, when the horses, attached to the heavy milk wagon, ran away.

It has been the custom of Cogger to drive to the home of John W. Lamprey and there remove the bridles of the horses while they were harnessed. This had been done, Irving being on the seat. In the run the wagon was overturned and Irving was pinned beneath it. He was dragged for some distance. The horses cleared themselves, but were stopped before further damage was done. Sixteen cans of milk were lost.

Irving was brought here, where his hand was amputated. Later he was removed to the Anna Jaques hospital at Newburyport.

DID SOMEBODY SET FIRE?

Queer Blaze Got Started in the Baptist Chapel at Franklin

A peculiar fire was discovered in the Baptist chapel at Franklin on Sunday morning, which for a number of fortunate circumstances and the prompt arrival of the fire department, would have destroyed the whole set of buildings. The fire started from an unknown source in the northeast corner of the chapel, and practically the entire interior of the building was aflame before the blaze was discovered.

The fire had broken out through the roof when the alarm was sounded and the wind being in the right direction saved the other buildings from catching. The damage was close to $1600.

MAY SECURE HIS FREEDOM

Deputy Attorney General Concedes Respondent's Right to Full and Impartial Hearing—Commission of Three Experts Appointed Whose Decision Shall Be Accepted by Both Parties to Pass Upon Thaw's Sanity

White Plains, N. Y., July 13.—It counsel can agree, a commission of three attorneys, mutually selected, will pass upon the question of Harry K. Thaw's sanity. This was practically decided at a continuation of the hearing before Justice Mills in which counsel for Stanford White's lawyer is trying to establish his right to release from the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

With all of Monday's testimony in favor of Thaw and with the indication that his wife will take the stand in his behalf, and with District Attorney Jerome eliminated, Thaw's chances for release appear brighter than at any time since his commitment.

After a string of witnesses who testified to Thaw's soundness of mind had told their story, Roger Clark, deputy attorney general, who is conducting the people's case, informed the court that he had been so much impressed by Thaw's intelligent interest in the issues at stake that he was willing to concede Thaw's right to a full and impartial examination.

He suggested that counsel for Thaw and counsel for the people agree to a commission of three expert attorneys whose decision should be accepted by both parties to the suit, without reservations or equivocations. Charles Morschauer, for Thaw, was agreeable and asked that Dr. Baker, superintendent of the state asylum, and Dr. Austin Flint be named as two of the three.

Justice Mills favored the suggestion for a commission, but was of the opinion that the state ought to name two of the three experts. With that exception, he left the personnel of the commission to be determined by counsel for both sides.

Mr. Morschauer pressed for another advantage for his client by asking the court that, in the event of the selection of a commission in lunacy, that any one who had testified in previous proceedings be barred from the examination now in progress. Justice Mills left this point also to be decided by counsel.

Evelyn N. Thaw has abandoned vacation plans, it is announced, in order to appear for her husband. The testimony heard from juries, ionkeepers, real estate dealers, clergymen, a dentist and a reporter, all called by Thaw, was uniformly in his favor.

AT A FORTY-MILE CLIP

Wright Aeroplane Goes Through the Air For Five and a Half Minutes
Washington, July 13.—Orville Wright last evening made a successful flight in the Wright aeroplane at Fort Myer, Va., remaining in the air five and a half minutes, during which time the machine attained a speed of about forty miles an hour. He erected the parade grounds half a dozen times, a total distance of about three and a half miles. Each time the aeroplane circled past the starting point the spectators cheered.

After passing the crowd the sixth time the aviator decided to make a landing because the motor was occasionally missing. He descended easily, the machine sliding smoothly over the ground until it came to a stop at a point near the shed.

Both of the Wrights expressed themselves as pleased with the performance. They intend to make only short flights until the new hearings have become worn down and the propelling motor is working perfectly.

END OF REIGN NEAR

Shah Has Incurred Displeasure of the Persian Sacred College

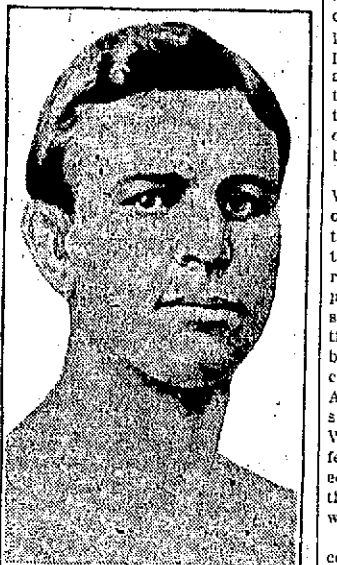

Teheran, July 13.—Further efforts by Said Ed Dowleh, the Persian foreign minister, on behalf of the government, to reach a friendly settlement with the Nationalists, have failed, and serious fighting is now looked for. The Shiite sacred college of Mujtaheds has decided to bring its influence to bear on the situation, and mujtaheds already have crossed the Turkish frontier with orders to proclaim a holy war. A holy war against the Muslims is unprecedented, but to legalize it the shah and his supporters have been declared non-Muslims.

The Mujtaheds' proclamation seems to render impossible the retention of the throne by the shah.

Enriched by Addition of a Tasmanian Devil and Other Animals

New York, July 13.—With the addition Monday of 450 animals of eighty-seven different species, in forty-eight cages, the Bronx park zoo became the most important collection of its kind in the world. The animals arrived on steamer Minnehaha from London, where they had been assembled by R. L. Dittmars, curator of the zoo, from all parts of the globe.

Among them are a Japanese salamander, weighing sixty pounds, a Tasmanian devil, which looks like a dog run all to head, and a hyrax, a distant cousin of the hippopotamus, although not much bigger than a rat. In the collection are a variety of snakes for which Dittmars swapped American snakes abroad.

PITCHED FIGHT WITH OUTLAWS

Soldiers Fought Jikiri's Band Under Difficulties

CROWD IS EXTERMINATED

Took Refuge in Cave on Steep Slope, Driving Back Americans by Savage Spear Charge—The Latter Rally and Come Off Victorious After Desperate Hand-to-Hand Encounter—Friendly Moros Look On

Manila, July 13.—While detailed accounts of the last fight of Jikiri, the famous Moro outlaw chieftain, who was killed and his band exterminated in a pitched battle near Patan, on the island of Jolo on July 5, have not been received, several brief dispatches and a letter or two from American officers who fought against the outlaw give a fairly complete story of the fight.

Hunted from place to place by the regulars and constabulary who had been in close pursuit, Jikiri took refuge in a cave that pierced the side of the crater of an extinct volcano. Here the outlaws gathered to make their last stand. As the soldiers came up the scouts located the party and the troops worked their way around the place until it was entirely surrounded and there was no chance of escape.

Captain Byram of the Sixth cavalry, who commanded the attacking force, then ordered a white flag displayed, and through his interpreter called upon Jikiri to surrender. The outlaw refused and also declined to accept a safe conduct for the women of his party, who remained with the band and bore their share of the fighting.

Captain Byram ordered up the guns and a terrific shell fire was opened on the cave. The missiles broke above and around the opening, but a ledge protected those inside from the fire of the guns and little damage was inflicted.

Storming parties worked their way up the steep slope, and finding footing on the ledge, endeavored to rush the larger entrance to the cave. The fighting for a few minutes was desperate, but the outlaws drove their assailants back by a savage spear charge. The soldiers were not completely routed and, taking up their posts at the end of the ledge, poured a terrible rifle fire into the mouth of the cave, the bullets glancing from the rock walls and throwing showers of sharp splinters of rock among the besieged.

Jikiri himself singled out Lieutenant Wilson, who commanded one section of the attacking party. Rushing from the cave the outlaw flung himself upon the American before Wilson could raise his pistol. With one hand gripping the officer's hair, the bandit slashed at his neck with the heavy knife he carried, endeavoring to behead him. Lieutenant Baer saw his comrade's peril and dashed to his aid. As Jikiri swung back the knife to strike again, Baer shot him dead and Wilson dropped to the ground. It is feared that Wilson will be incapacitated from further service in the army, as the muscles and cords of his neck were severed by the bandit's knife.

Writing of the fight, American officers say that in the desperate hand-to-hand encounter on the narrow ledge some of the assailants may have been wounded by their own fire.

Hundreds of friendly Moros saw the fight at close range. They perched among the rocks where they could see the ledge, and not a movement of the combatants escaped their eyes. Many of them believed that Jikiri bore a charmed life, impervious to knife and bullet. They would not be convinced that he was dead until they saw and felt his body.

LORD ROBERTS IS WORRIED

Wants Compulsory Service in Territorial Army to Save His Nation

London, July 13.—"The national service bill," which provides for the compulsory service in the territorial army of all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 30 years, was introduced in the house of lords by Lord Roberts, who, in support of the measure, painted a gloomy picture of the condition of the country's defenses and the threatening dangers of the empire.

Lord Roberts denounced the present policy, which he characterized as a "wiffling gamble with the safety of the country and the empire," and claimed that his bill would furnish 1,000,000 well trained and disciplined soldiers in a few years.

"BEST PEOPLE ON EARTH" IN CONVENTION

Thousands of Elks Assembled in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, July 13.—The City of the Angels is entertaining today thousands upon thousands of the "Best People on Earth." At any rate, so the members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks call themselves jocularly, and the hospitable folk of Los Angeles are not inclined to dispute the claim.

The city is lavishly decorated with royal purple and white, the colors of the Elks, and countless representations of the elk's head and the clock with hands pointing to 11 are to be seen. The convention is the biggest in the forty years' history of the order.

The convention will remain in session three days. The main business will be the selection of next year's convention city and the election of officers. For the high position of grand exalted ruler of over 200,000 Elks there are two candidates—Garry Herrmann, the Cincinnati baseball magnate, and J. U. Sams of Le Mars, Ia. Detroit is in the lead as a candidate for next year's convention and Boston for the 1911 gathering.

CORPORATION TAX IS SPLIT

Definite Decision to Reduce It to One Percent

TAFT BREAKS INTO TARIFF

His Purpose to Leave No Conference Unreached If Interview Will Aid Cause of Downward Revision—Putting Presidential Influence and Powers of Persuasion Against Those of Aldrich—Talks With Conference Only

Washington, July 13.—At a conference at the White House Monday it was definitely decided that the rate to be levied under the new corporation tax shall be reduced from 2 percent to 1 percent, and that in redrafting the measure, now in conference along with the tariff bill to meet various objections that have been raised, due consideration shall be given to the demands of the mutual life insurance companies whose incomes would be seriously affected by the tax in its original form.

President Taft is the central figure in a number of conferences and is living up to the prediction made many weeks ago that in the conference consideration of the tariff he would actively lead his influence to bringing about a reconciliation of the differences between the two houses. The president is in daily consultation with the tariff conferees. The conference report should be available, according to the president's information, by the end of next week.

That President Taft regards the tariff situation as of critical importance and to be handled better by diplomacy than by blows has been made plain to all his callers since his return to the White House last Friday.

It is the purpose of the president to leave no member unreached if it is apparent that an interview would promise benefit to the cause of downward revision. Outside the conferees, however, the president is dumbly to all callers as to the merits of the Aldrich-Payne bill.

Upon the most complete authority it can be stated that all the powers of conciliation will be exhausted by the president before he will even contemplate a more drastic program. He is putting his own influence and powers of persuasion against those of Senator Aldrich.

President Taft has made it plain that he will not take either the people or the members of congress, outside the conferees, into his confidence with respect to tariff revision. "This course he holds to be wisest, and absolutely to secure the results for which he is aiming. Any other, he believes, might defeat his purpose and bring about a situation between him and congress which would provide serious aspects."

NO ROOM FOR LOAFERS

Secretary Nagel Weeding Out Inefficient Men in His Department

Washington, July 13.—Approximately 100 employees of the department of commerce and labor were reduced Monday and the resignations of about ten others accepted.

This action was taken by Secretary Nagel as the result of an investigation into the "efficiency record" of the employees in his department. The reductions were made, it is stated, because the employees were found to have "loafed on the job," while those allowed to resign were found to be inefficient.

The secretary's determination to inject new life into the work of his department prompted this radical step. Further changes are to be made, it is indicated, and many of the clerks will receive promotions.

1600.05 YARDS A MINUTE

Long Standing Record Broken in Long Flight of Carrier Pigeons

Baltimore, July 13.—In a flight of birds of the Southern Federation of Homing Pigeon Fanciers, a record that has stood for the past twelve years was broken.

The birds were liberated at North Bay, Ont., 510 miles from Baltimore, and the first to arrive covered the distance in 9 hours, 17 minutes, an average of 1600.05 yards a minute. The previous record was 1340 yards a minute.

Nearly 100 birds were liberated at North Bay, and of these sixty-seven beat the previous record referred to.

A Mysterious Drowning

Amesbury, Mass., July 13.—Patrick Campbell, 55 years old, an employee of the Atlantic Boat company, started from this city to deliver a boat at Bath, Me. Mortality Figures Reduced

New York, July 13.—Mortality figures for New York city for the week ending July 10 establish a new minimum record for the summer months. The total number of deaths last week was 1267, as against 1616 for the corresponding week last year.

MET DEATH BY VIOLENCE

Landlord of Aged Couple Suspected of Committing Double Crime

New York, July 13.—A coroner's autopsy proved conclusively that Thomas Verity, 73 years old, and his wife, Cynthia, 84, whose bodies were found in the ashes of the house at Patchogue, L. I., where they lodged, had met death from concussion of the brain. They had apparently been beaten to death in bed, while they lay asleep.

A motive for the murder is not easy to assign, although Peter Backalvitch, the landlord, is held as a suspect. What money the two had they got from their sons. They paid their rent by boarding Backalvitch, who lived below them on the first floor. When the firemen came they found him fully dressed outside the locked front door.

His explanation is that he was so hard pressed by the heat that he had jumped from his bed out of the window, grabbing his clothes as he fled.

SANK IN THREE MINUTES

Lake Steamer Goes Down With Fourteen Men After Collision

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., July 13.—Three minutes after the steel steamers Isaac M. Scott and John B. Cowie had collided in Lake Superior the Cowie had gone to the bottom in fifty fathoms of water, carrying with her fourteen members of her crew. The Scott, although damaged about the bows, put back to this port with part of the crew of the Cowie.

A heavy fog was responsible for the collision. The Scott, a new boat on her maiden trip to the head of the lake, had just straightened out her course up the lake, when the Cowie loomed up through the fog, only a few feet away, with 3000 tons of iron ore in her hold.

The Cowie was 445 feet long, fifty feet beam, and owned by the Cowie Transit company of Cleveland.

APPRECIATING THE WORKERS

President Taft on Sunday made the address at the laying of the cornerstone of a new institutional church in Washington a church which has a part of its equipment a gymnasium, a swimming pool, bowling alleys and clubrooms. He took occasion to pay a tribute to the civil employes of the government, who being compelled to remain in Washington while the president goes to the seashore and legislators seeks their vacations, carries on the work of the government. "Sometimes working for a salary much too low, said the president, he is philosopher enough to know that he can get more real happiness out of life in seeing his family grow and in the education of his children than by aspiring to be a millionaire or a plutocrat. It was Abraham Lincoln who said that God must love the common people best, else he would not have made so many of them. President Taft seems to have had a similar thought in mind when he spoke of making "the church as attractive by reason of its social qualities, by reason of offering an opportunity for physical exercise, for intellectual exercise, that those who are members of it shall regard religion as a necessary part of life and one which they will welcome as a part of life." The appreciation of the common people is one of the attributes of those great men whose memories are cherished. May President Taft's memory be worthy to be kept green.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

Boston school committee is planning to have some new separate high schools for boys and girls. The committee has been greatly influenced by their decision to take this action by the splendid results which have been obtained by the separation of boys and girls in other city schools, notably the Mechanics Arts High, English High, Boston School of Commerce and the Girls' High School on West Newton street. In addition the segregation of the sexes in the grammar schools is claimed to have had a like influence. Whether such school separation should be partial or total is a question not likely to be answered immediately. The demand for industrial training in the schools is bringing the question to the front, for such training is necessarily different for the sexes.

Hugh Williams, proprietor of the Canal street bowling alleys of Nashua, is the recipient of a "black hand" letter, which is causing his friends not little worry. This is the first time for years that the Nashua police have had that form of crime to contend with. A peculiar feature is that no demand for money is made, but he is flaily ordered out of town, or else threatened with death. Maybe it is not a genuine "black hand" attempt, but who is immune from such?

Washington, July 13.—Brigadier General Winfield S. Edgerly, recently in command of Fort Riley, Kansas, is reported to be in ill health, and has been ordered to report for examination to determine his physical fitness for further active duty. General Edgerly was born in Farmington, N. H., May 29, 1846, and was graduated from the United States Military academy in June 1870, and was assigned to the Seventh cavalry. During the Spanish war he served in the inspector general's department of the volunteer army. Otherwise his entire military service has been in the cavalry branch. He was appointed a brigadier general in June, 1905.

CAPT. HAINS TRANSFERRED

Slayer of Annis Goes on Paper from 62d to 30th Company

Washington, July 13.—Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., of the coast artillery corps, who was recently convicted in New York of killing W. E. Annis, has been transferred from the 62d to the 30th company, coast artillery corps.

This is a "paper transfer" for the convenience of the service, and has no other significance. Both companies are at Fort Worden, Wash., and the 62d company requires the services of a captain, which is not the case with the 30th.

RICH RED BLOOD

Means Rosy Cheeks, Clear Complexion Bright Eyes and Plenty of Energy

What does rich, red blood mean? It means brains, vitality, ambition, hopefulness, persistency and everything worth living for.

But you can't have rich, red blood, if your digestion is imperfect, and your digestion is certainly imperfect if you have sour stomach, bad taste in mouth, lump of lead after eating, belching of gas and nervous unness. So far reaching is the effect of indigestion, that many times the eyesight is affected.

If you have indigestion or any symptom of stomach distress or agony Goodwin E. Philbrick will sell you a mighty remedy for 50 cents, and guarantee it to cure or money back.

The remedy is called Mi-o-na. Its powerful, reconstructive action on the stomach is little short of marvelous. It tones up, strengthens and puts new life and energy into the worn out stomach in a few days. It cures by removing the cause. If you are a sufferer, try a large 50 cent box. It's a small price to pay for banishing indigestion.

Mi-o-na is sold by Goodwin E. Philbrick in Portsmouth for 50 cents a box.

A TIMELY TOPIC

BY
OWEN R. LOVEJOY,
Sec'y. National Child Labor Assn.

Child vs.
Industrial Education.

Industry should join with the school and home in educating the child for citizenship. At present industry is not cooperating, but an opposing factor. Nearly two million children under sixteen years of age are excluded from education opportunity by wage-earning employments, while a still larger number have their education seriously interfered with. But their employment does not afford industrial training.

The requirements of society demand the industrial training of children. In the case of advanced students this can frequently be secured by the cooperation of school and local industries. But the factory is not available for educating children because (1) the commercial spirit is dominant. Perhaps the worst effect of child labor is psychological. Children enter industry not for training, not to learn habits of punctuality, thoroughness, system, but to get money. (2) The industries in which little children can work to pecuniary advantage lack the necessary educational elements. There is no opportunity to gain the broad general foundation we demand of the professional specialist. The child becomes a specialist by the expert operation of one set of muscles without any knowledge or appreciation of the processes in which he is an insignificant mechanical part.

The time has come to challenge the objection raised against every effort to regulate the employment of children, that the child is better off at work than running in idleness. Probably it is not true even were it the only alternative. The nature of the work must first be investigated. Industrial training is an educational, not a commercial problem. How to adapt our school system to it is the most important educational issue. The practical working out of the programme belongs to school men, but it is the privilege of investigators of our child employing industries to call attention to the fact that industrial training must be under school management, not factory control.

SUMMER IN EUROPE

Senator Gallinger's Trip with the Waterways Commission

Concord, July 13.—Hon. Jacob H. Gallinger, United States senator, arrived at his residence here on Monday and went up to the farm in Salisbury, where he is to superintend the work of harvesting the hay crop until such time as he is recalled to the senate to take final action on the tariff bill which is now in conference.

The senator is to pass the summer in Europe with the national waterways commission, the membership of which is composed of Theodore R. Burton of Ohio, chairman, Senator Gallinger, vice chairman, Senators Piles of Washington, William Alden Smith of Michigan, Lorimer of Illinois, Simmons of North Carolina, Clark of Arkansas and Congressman Alexander of New York, Stevens of Minnesota, Sparkman of Florida and Moon of Tennessee.

Speaking of the trip, Senator Gallinger said: "We shall sail for England on July 30, or August 3, and shall tour that country, France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. We shall also probably make several side trips.

"The commission was appointed to make an exhaustive study of the development of rivers and canals in the countries indicated for transportation purposes with a view of formulating plans to be applied to the situation in this country due to the calls upon congress for the development of rivers and harbors and the construction of canals and the establishing of deeper waterways between inland ports.

"The findings of the commission will be presented to congress at the next session. It will probably be an elaborate document and it will also probably have an important bearing on the work contemplated in this country which is now up to congress for action or sanction.

"The commission will remain abroad two months and will sail from England for home on the 9th day of October."

Charles L. Willey, a native of Barrington, but for the past 30 years a resident of this city, died on Monday at the Wentworth hospital, aged 57. He was a member of Mt. Pleasant lodge of Odd Fellows. The funeral will be held Wednesday at Green Hill chapel, East Barrington.

The belated moth flight struck this city on Sunday night in large numbers and on Monday night the brown-tail moth destroyer, an electrical contrivance of Ex-Alderman Charles P. Chesley, was tested in the presence of hundreds of people on two are lights. One was placed near the Boston and Maine station and the other on Central square. The moths were killed by alighting on the electrified wires of the destroyers. Some got only a partial shock and fell nearby to the ground, then flew away. Others were killed instantly while others were burned by the burned by the current, streams of smoke issuing from the moths until they were charred or dropped off. If the moths were dispersed by the moon, as suggested by a moth expert, the resumption of the street lights has had the effect apparently of bringing back a portion of the midsummer flight.

BAD BALLOON FALL

Nashua, July 13.—His parachute falling to the open properly, Albert Patenaud of Haverhill, Mass., who made a balloon ascension and parachute jump here Monday evening, shot downward nearly 200 feet, struck the roof of a house and was severely injured.

He was taken to the Emergency hospital in A. E. Hamlin's automobile, and was attended by Dr. A. S. Wallace. It was found that his left leg was badly sprained. The leg was put in a plaster cast and Patenaud announced that he will make the ascension today.

The father and son have made begging trips through the country for three years, staying out for a week to two months, Goodbar tells the police.

A pitiful story, well drilled into the child, has netted from $4 to $12 a day on all the trips, the police were told.

There will be a large number of visitors to the Forts this week while the State soldiers are in camp.

FROM EXETER

Funeral of Dr. H. Prescott Chase

Browntail Moths Very Plentiful

Raising the Railroad Track at the Station

Exeter, July 13.—Probably one of the most impressive and largely attended Masonic funerals held here for a long period was that of Dr. H. Prescott Chase, which was held at Phillips Church at 2.15 o'clock on Monday afternoon. It was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. S. H. Dana, and attended by many outside the Star of the East Lodge, A. F. and A. M., which was represented by nearly a full delegation, some coming from out of town for the occasion. The brothers formed at the Masons' hall, and from there the cortege moved to the church where the body was lying in state. Dr. Dana delivered a eulogy, depicting many examples from the life of the departed brother. Selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Clarence M. Collins, Gilbert C. Haley, Everett Weeks and Frank H. Lanson. The bearers were Albert J. Weeks, George Hilliard, John Seaton, Nathan W. Helman, Clarence M. Collins and Fred A. Moore, all brothers from the Star of the East Lodge. Funeral services were held on Sunday at Portsmouth, the body being brought here on Monday by a special electric car and the interment was in the family lot here. The impressive Masonic rites were also performed at the grave. Dr. Chase had long been a resident here, where he gained the respect of all. He was a graduate from the academy with the class of 1890, and practiced dentistry here for fifteen years.

The advent of the brown, toll moths has been noticed by the fluttering of the white winged insects about the electric lights by night and the rows of dead ones by day. Hundreds of them hover about the lights each night but there will be probably not any attempt to shut off the lights about town. Supt. C. W. Rodgers of the lighting department however, has a novel scheme, by which he hopes to snare large quantities of the pests by separating the globe from the light at a slight distance which will form a trap for them.

The Boston and Maine railroad is making more improvements at the station by having the tracks, both east and west bound, raised to the height of the concrete platform, a distance of about six inches. A force of workmen has been engaged in performing the work, which was begun Monday.

George B. Higgins of the Mail carrier force has returned from a brief visit to Hedding.

Miss Goldie Barton of North Hampton, a former table girl at Masters' restaurant, who has recently recovered from an operation for appendicitis at the Cottage hospital, was a visitor in town Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Grunwald, who has spent the past week at Wintthrop beach, Mass., has returned to her home in town.

ENSIGN AIKEN

Died from Gas Explosion in the Hold of the North Carolina

Naples, July 13.—The officers and men of the American warships in this port united Monday afternoon in paying solemn military honors to the late Ensign Hugh Kerr Aiken of the armored cruiser North Carolina who died Sunday night as the result of injuries sustained in an explosion on board the cruiser.

From an investigation which was instituted by Captain Marshall it was learned that Ensign Aiken Sunday attempted an investigation as to whether gas was generated in the coal hold. Wishing to face the risk alone he instructed the sailors to keep behind him.

When he entered he was not able to detect any odor of gas, and one of the men who was carrying a lighted candle came forward. Unfortunately he tripped and his arm dropped bringing the light in contact with the gas that was lying in a low level. Ensign Aiken received the full force of the explosion which followed. He was dragged out by the men, but died some hours later.

SECRETARY NAGEL

Shook Up Employees in Commerce and Labor Department

Washington, July 13.—There was a big "shake-up" in the department of commerce and labor Monday, when about one hundred employees were reduced and the resignations of ten others accepted. The reductions were made, it is stated, because the employees were found to be inefficient.

Believing that there was considerable "dead timber" in his department, Secretary Nagel about six weeks ago instituted an investigation. As a result it was found that 8 or 10 percent of the clerks were deficient to a greater or lesser extent. Since the investigation the efficiency record of the employees has increased 30 per cent.

IS LEON LING DEAD?

He is Not Under Arrest in Budapest, as Was Reported

New York, July 13.—Convinced that Leon Ling was slain, Captain Arthur Carey, in command of the homicide bureau, is preparing to dig up the cellar of the Chinese laundry at No. 370 West One Hundred and Twenty-Sixth street, in the hope that the body of the man who was supposed to have slain Elsie Sigel may be found buried there.

Captain Carey is not alone in the opinion that Leon is dead. Inspector McCafferty believes that Leon and the girl were killed at the same time, but that the body of the Chinaman was spirited away and disposed of in a trunk, so that it would look as if he was the girl's slayer.

NAVAL CHIEF MACHINIST'S WEDDING

Quincy, July 13.—A wedding of much interest to local social circles and to the officers and men of the U. S. S. New Jersey was solemnized Monday evening at the pretty summer bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Johnson at Adams shore, when their daughter, Miss Sadie F. Johnson, became the bride of warrant officer James H. McDonough, chief machinist of the New Jersey.

The groom, in the full dress of his rank, was attended by Warrant Officer C. W. Andrews, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C., who was a companion of the groom on the world cruise of Admiral Sperry's battleship fleet around the world. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The groom is one of the best known warrant officers of the North Atlantic fleet.

The bride is one of the most popular girls of this city. She is a graduate of the Woodward institute. Her father is one of the large lumber dealers on the South Shore and is an officer of Quincy lodge of Elks. The groom is also an Elk. He is a native of Richmond, Va., but his official home, according to naval orders, is Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a brother to Chief Boatswain F. R. McDonough of the U. S. S. North Dakota.

Adj. General Harry B. Cilley of the Governor's staff is in New Castle during the encampment of the State soldiers, and he is stopping at the hotel Wentworth.

He was about 68 years of age and a veteran of the Civil War having served with distinction through the entire struggle, with honor to himself and his company. He was for many years junior of the post office building, and later worked for many years as engineer at the Portsmouth Brewing Company, and for several years he was employed on the navy yard.

He leaves two sons, Edward Leslie and Rev. William Leslie and two daughters.

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away, Portsmouth People Have Learned This Fact

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Portsmouth testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Charles O. Hill, 34 Vaughan St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "A short time ago I was suddenly attacked with severe pains in my back. At times I could hardly stand on my feet and it was difficult for me to go up or down stairs. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as an excellent remedy for such cases and as my husband had previously taken them with good results, I decided to give them a trial. I obtained a box at Philbrick's drug store and the result of their use was a cure. I have had no occasion to use a kidney remedy since that time and have no objection to giving my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills for publication."

TAFT WORKING FOR DOWNWARD REVISION

Not Openly Opposing the Bill, But Using His Influence With the Committee.

Washington, July 13.—That President Taft regards the tariff situation as of critical importance and to be handled better by diplomacy than by blows has been made plain to all his callers since his return to the White House last Friday. The President is systematically conferring with the members of the Conference Committee and discussing rates with them and not general principles, Senator Aldrich was almost his first caller Friday. Saturday evening at 9.30 o'clock Chairman Payne of Ways and Means called at the White House, and the President took him upon an automobile ride. Representative Fordney of Michigan, another conferee, was his guest on Monday. Speaker Cannon had a talk with him Monday forenoon, he planned to receive Senator Burrows of the Conference Committee at one o'clock, and invited Senator Aldrich to luncheon at 1.30.

Personal meetings of this kind are being arranged as fast as engagements can be made. It is the purpose of the president to leave no member unreached if it is apparent that an interview would promise benefit to the cause of downward revision. Outside the conference, however, the President is dumb to all callers as to the merits of the Aldrich-Payne bill. He is known to regard the administrative features of the Aldrich bill as excellent, in a general way, and to interpose no objection to the maximum and minimum plan of the Senate, preferring it to the House plan, because of the discretionary power with which it vests the President. Upon the most complete authority it can be stated that all the powers of conciliation will be exhausted before he will even contemplate a more drastic programme. He is putting his own influence and powers of persuasion against those of Senator Aldrich. All the while studiously safeguarding his own utterances outside the conference, that neither he nor they may be embarrassed by concessions on the one side or refusals to concede on the other, Messrs. Aldrich and Payne have told the President that no less than two weeks will be necessary to complete the work of the conference, and, of course, the necessity of submitting results to President Taft does not tend to hasten the end.

Senator LaFollette had a half hour interview with the President Monday morning. The political phase of the tariff was not touched upon, but the Wisconsin insurgent explained elaborately his ideas with respect to the Middle Western demands. President Taft has made it plain to members of Congress, outside the conference, into his conference with respect to tariff revision. This of course, he holds to be wisest, and absolutely to secure the results for which he is aiming. Any other, he believes, might defeat his purpose and bring about a situation between him and Congress which would provide serious aspects.

No objection will be made by the President to reduction of the corporation tax from two to one percent, if this will bring enough revenue, nor would he regard the substitution of the inheritance for the corporation tax an evil. He is said to feel, however that the objections of the States are so material that they should govern in the premises.

BATTLESHIPS START MANEUVERES

Provincetown, July 13.—With a heavy blanket of fog overhanging the harbor the four big battleships Connecticut, Vermont, Kansas and Louisiana comprising the first division pulled up their mudhooks Monday and leaving the other ships of the fleet at anchor, crept out and across Cape Cod Bay to the Sandwich and Barnstable shore to begin the maneuvers target practice, battle tactics and other exercises in which the fleet will be engaged the next month.

The second division steamed out later in the day to the range off Wood end Light for target practice. The remainder of the fleet will stay here until Wednesday.

SURE HER SON WAS MURDERED

West Point, July 12.—Mrs. James Sutton of Portland, Or., who has spent many months in an effort to have the government reopen the investigation into the death of her son Lieut. James Sutton, marine corps which occurred at the naval academy, Oct. 12, 1907, is positive in her belief that her son was murdered. She says: "It was a physical impossibility for my son to have committed suicide. That he was foully murdered can be proved in a half dozen ways.

"As a matter of fact my son was not armed the night he was shot. The evening before his death he was dressed for a 'hop' He wore a uniform which had no hip pockets. He could not have concealed a weapon on his person. He did not go to the 'hop' however, but instead spent the evening with Miss Stewart.

EVELYN WILL STICK BY HARRY

New York July 12.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is expected to be a witness for her husband, Harry K. Thaw, at the inquiry into his present mental condition, resumed before Justice Mills in the Supreme Court at White Plains today. Although she had intended starting on a vacation trip to Maine Monday, she informed representatives of Thaw's attorneys that he would gladly postpone her trip to testify for her husband.

"I will testify for Harry," said Mrs. Thaw today. I will stick by him as a wife should stick by her husband as I have always stuck by him. It is my duty, and I shall not shrink from it now."

THE BIG COAL STRIKE

Pittsburg, July 13.—The strike of 18,000 coal miners which has been ordered for next Thursday will close down the many mines of the Pittsburg Coal Company, of the famous soft coal trust, and will be a serious blow at the United States Steel Corporation, which gets its coal from the company.

It is understood that one of the reasons that the strike was decided upon at this time was the strike now on by the tin plate workers against the steel company.

It was announced that some time since that the United Mine Workers were thinking about taking a hand in the strike of the tin plate men.

The mills of the Pittsburg district are starting up again and there is a big demand for part of the 8,000,000 bushels of coal which the Pittsburg Coal company has promised to deliver yearly to the corporations.

Cutting off this coal supply at once was thought to be a good way to assist the strike of the tin plate workers as well as gain some points for the miners themselves.

The reason given by the miners' officials for the strike at this time seems general. It is set forth that the Pittsburg Coal company with its seventy mines has not lived up to its agreement, and that new and heavier duties have been forced on the men.

A Worcester Baker Pronounced Dead Walks Home from Hospital

Worcester, July 13.—Joseph Remillard of 16 Orange street aged 40, baker who was prostrated by the hot wave of June 28 and taken to the city hospital, where it was officially reported that he died within a short time after his admission, was discharged from hospital Monday, and walked home.

The case was one of the most remarkable ever brought to the attention of the hospital physicians.

Remillard gave all the signs of dissolution from heat prostration, and his apparently dead body was placed on a truck to be taken to the morgue. Instead of taking him to the morgue the doctor in charge wheeled him into the electrical apparatus room where the physicians tried tests on him with electrical current. He was revived and great care was taken to nurse the spark of life, until Remillard walked out Monday. Literally from the brink of the grave. There is no question that he would be a dead man if the body had been placed in the cold of the morgue.

THE ACTRESS DREAMED

New York, July 13.—She dreamed it and came true. Eva Tanguay, the vaudeville entertainer who tonight makes her debut as a musical comedy star in "Follies of 1909," is now a firm believer in dreams. Up to two weeks ago the comedienne looked upon dreams as nightmares, but now she swears by them.

While in Philadelphia recently Lie Eva, who had partaken of a Welsh rabbit before retiring, dreamed she would soon be the star of a big Broadway musical production. She said little or no attention to her dream until F. Ziegfeld, Jr., made her an offer to star at the Jardin de Paris. Immediately after signing the contract Miss Tanguay remarked: "The dream came true," and then she told the story of her dream in Philadelphia.

BEING TREATED WITH AN ASPHALT SURFACE

The State ocean boulevard at North Ocean Wave house, is being treated with a surface layer of asphalt. The work is being done by a Millard firm who have the contract, and they are using a big sprinkling car and this is being followed up by a gang of men with brushes. It is put on in a thin liquid form and then a coat of gravel over this. It is said that it is very effective in preventing dust and the wear of automobiles.

A HEAVY FOG

One of the heaviest fogs of the summer prevailed on Monday and at times it rolled in so thick that it completely shut off everything from the harbor. Practically all day the fog hung over the water and at times was blown inland in great clouds. At no time could any distance be seen on the water and navigation on the river and harbor was trying, to say the least.

St. Louis, July 13.—A cyclone wind struck St. Louis and suburbs at noon Monday.

Telegraph and telephone wires were blown down.

In St. Louis county trees were uprooted.

The wind struck the steamer Alton as it passed with 300 passengers from St. Louis through the draw of the bridge at Alton, Ill., 25 miles north of here.

The steamer was swung around until part of the wheel house was torn off against a pier of the bridge. The boat was jammed there.

The wind here picked up wagons and threw the horses and drivers to the ground.

Because of trolley wires being torn down electric cars in some parts of the city were stopped for an hour.

THE PLOT OF A PLAY.

How Sardou Came to Write "Les Pattes de Mouche."

Sardou sat working at a scenic adaptation of Voltaire's "Candide," and it hung fire not because there was no prospect of a dinner, but because his pipe was empty and he had not a penny wherewith to buy tobacco. Suddenly on opening a drawer of his table he uttered a cry of joy at the sight of five or six tickets of a wine company which gave his customers a voucher for 20 centimes for every bottle purchased. A quarter of an hour afterward he was the happy possessor of a silver franc piece and some soss besides.

Picking up a scrap of paper off the sauced floor of the tobacco shop, he was about to light his weed when the words "Marie-Laurent" caught his eye. The "unconsidered trifle" turned out to be the fragment of a letter from the well known actress to her son Charles. Sardou put his hand in his pocket, but on his way home his plot weaving faculties, stimulated by the fumes of the tobacco, at once reasserted themselves.

"This is the innocent letter of a mother to her boy," he said to himself. "Supposing, however, it had been the letter of a woman to her lover and, falling by a similar accident into the hands of the woman's husband, wishing to light his cigar?"

The suggestion led to his play "Les Pattes de Mouche."—London Chronicle.

A HUMAN GIBRALTAR.

The Story That Is Told of the English Colonel Burnaby.

In the biography of Colonel Fred Burnaby there is a characteristic story, told by his friend Lord Binning, of that soldier of herculean frame and reckless courage.

We were engaged in a football match on the green inside Windsor cavalry barracks, and the verandas were crowded with lookers as the colonel, dressed for London in frock coat and tall hat, with a cigar in his mouth, came out of the officers' quarters and proceeded slowly across a corner of the ground, apparently oblivious of the fact that a match was in progress at the time. At this moment our fullback, a gigantic Yorkshireman named Bates, who must have weighed nearer fifteen than fourteen stone, charging impetuously for the ball, dashed full into Burnaby. The impact was terrific, but while the Yorkshireman, hurled backward by the shock as though he had collided with a mountain, lay gasping on the ground, neither Burnaby's hat nor the angle of his cigar was in the smallest degree disturbed. In fact, he scarcely seemed to realize that a collision had taken place. When he did so he removed his cigar from his mouth and, with his pleasant smile, said, "Dear me, I do hope I am not interfering with the game." The shout of delight which went up from the verandas was a thing to remember.

FOXES HAVE SCALES.

A Naturalist Compares These Animals With the Reptiles.

K. Toldt, a Viennese naturalist, says that foxes have scales as well as hair upon their skins. From this he argues that they have descended from ancestors bearing horny skins, like the armadillos and the ant eaters.

Every one who has examined a rat closely, knows that its tail is scaly throughout its length. Those who are familiar with wild boars know, also, that there are parts of their bodies on which there are distinct scales. Wherever the scales are found on these creatures with hairs as well, these hairs grow in tufts at regular intervals between the scales. As this form of growth is often found in animals which have no scales it is believed that when it exists it proves origin from a race which once bore scales.

Especially is this true of the fox. If his skin be examined closely it will be found that the hairs are arranged in groups of three bunches, each bunch containing fourteen or fifteen hairs, and that the skin has the appearance of that of a scaly ant enter from which the scales have been plucked. Under the microscope it looks scaly. Herr Toldt says the fox is one of the mammals that can be most correctly compared with the reptiles, being of a primitive and very slightly specialized type, although famous for its cunning.

A TITLE AND A UNIFORM.

How Colonel Johnson Got the One and Bought the Other.

"Where did you get your military title?" was asked of Colonel Johnson.

"Charles Culberson made me take it when he was governor of Texas," replied the Houston editor. "I told him I might have to wear a title, but I'd be hanged if I'd wear a uniform. One day I met the governor on the street, and he said, 'Hello, Bill!'"

"Is that the proper manner to address your commanding officer?" he demanded sternly. "Stand up straight, salute and say 'Governor.' Where's your uniform?"

"The office isn't worth $125 of gold lace," I replied hotly.

"About face! March!" commanded the governor, and he marched me into a tailor shop.

"Make this man a colonel's uniform and send the bill to me," he said.

"I couldn't stand for that, so I said, 'I give you to understand, sir, if I've got to be a colonel I can buy my own uniform and put on as much gold lace as any man in Texas.'"

"That's how I came to be a colonel and to have, for sale cheap as fine a military uniform as ever was made in the south."—Exchange.

Women and Now Money.

The cashier, as usual, paid the loan boss in new money—crisp, sweet smelling bank notes that it was pleasant to handle.

"But why is it, George," he asked, "that you insist upon new money always? I know you hand every cent of it to your wife."

"The loan boss chuckled.

"It's easy to see you ain't a married man, Will," said he. "Otherwise you'd know woman's nature better and wouldn't need to be told the advantage of taking home new money to the wife. The explanation is, Will, that women are so fond of new money that they hate to part with it. It makes them economical. They bargain for this, they deny themselves that, and the upshot is that at the end of each week they have a tidy little sum, all brand new, put by in a stocking or a teapot. It pays, Will, to give the wife new money. It pays something like 20 per cent."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Order of Fools.

April 1 is not the only fools' day in the year. On November 12, 1231, the Order of Fools was instituted by Adolphus, count of Cleves.

Members were not by any means idiots, however, for the word had a different meaning then. They were the prototype of our modern Order of Foresters or Odd Fellows, doing a similarly benevolent work. Their insignia consisted of a mantle, upon the left shoulder of which was embroidered a jester, or fool, in cap and bells, yellow hose and silver vest. So these cheery, useful jokers had a bright, happy outlook upon life and met together to dispense the earnest of their healthful existence at stated intervals, the chief day of which was Nov. 12.—London Chronicle.

Origin of Cards.

The origin of cards lies far back in the hidden antiquity of Asia, no record so far having been found to unravel the source. It was from the distant orient that cards, along with chess, were first introduced into southern Europe, Spain and Italy especially. The earliest of these cards have been lost unfortunately and no record of them preserved.

COLONEL PENDER LEADS EXPRESS RATES CONTEST

Col. John Pender of this city, as is well known to the readers of the Portsmouth Evening Herald, is the man who started the state board of trade movement for lower express rates in New Hampshire, and has taken an active part in the movement.
Hence, it came as a surprise when this morning's Manchester correspondence of the Boston Herald contained a statement that Col. Pender tried to resign from the State Board of Trade special committee to conduct proceedings against the American Express Company, and that he did so shortly after his appointment, saying "there was no sentiment in Portsmouth against the American Express Company."
Col. Pender, denied the statement when his attention was called to it, and said that he has taken no backward step but is still in the work of prosecution of the suit for the reduction of the rates.
He is actively co-operating with the other members of the committee, Chairman William Savacool of Manchester, Col. F. M. Maynard of Nashua, Judge C. A. Towne of Franklin, and James F. Brennan of Peterboro.
He is thoroughly in earnest on this matter and asked the Portsmouth Herald to assure the people to that effect.

DOG CHEWED ROPE

A passenger at the depot on Monday had a bunch of trouble all due to a small dog. The owner, intending to ship the animal in the baggage car, tied him up while he did some business at the station and on his return found that that Tige had chewed the rope and fled.
The dog then led the owner a merry chase around town till a late hour.
Hardly a breeze on the river today.

CARELESS WITH RUM

Sometime late on Monday evening a son of sunny Italy appeared at the depot carrying with him a golden jug. He wanted the train for Dover and when told that he could not go till morning he decided to hold down one of the baggage trucks and "kill time" till daylight.
While he was resting himself in the open air, two tramps came along and made themselves acquainted with the Italian. Of course they sized up the jug and when they found out that it contained rum they told the Italian that he owned the railroad. However, he refused to partake of the cane juice.
Anyhow, to make a long story short, the tramps watched the man and the jug, and when he went to the telegraph office to inquire about trains he left the conversation water just outside the door where the tramps gently lifted it and took it on the hot foot over a big fence back of the depot to the cemetery. The Italian was soon doing a sprint and the Marathon continued in the dark among the graves and headstones in the North cemetery. Finally the tramps got out on Maplewood avenue and disappeared in the Christian Shore district, leaving the Italian in the cemetery still hunting for his choice brand of booze.
He went to Dover without his jug and will be obliged to make another purchase in the Cochebo city if he wishes to treat his friends.

Peter Mullan, the chief water tender of the North Carolina, whose home is in Brooklyn, N. Y., also was injured slightly at the time of the explosion.

HUNGRY SAILORS

They Are Well Fed When at the Portsmouth Station

A very few of the people in civil life realize what it takes to feed the men of the navy, especially the crews attached to the battleships, and the firm who undertakes to provide stores certainly has got to be up and coming every minute.
Last month, when the U. S. S. Maine, New Hampshire and Wisconsin were at the navy yard, it meant quite an item. To give the readers of the Herald an idea what the men of these ships had in the way of food we publish the amount of stores required for the month by the U. S. S. New Hampshire alone: 24,853 pounds beef, 6,420 pounds ham, 4,744 pounds veal, 13,619 pounds pork, 2,775 pounds frankfurts, 625 pounds liver, 1,925 sausage, 1,985 pounds bologna sausage, 41,000 pounds potatoes, 3,250 pounds cucumbers, 3,950 pounds cabbage, 1,480 pounds onions, 1,100 pounds turnips.
At the dinner on July 5 the extras included 375 pounds strawberries, 430 pounds bananas, 720 pounds cantaloupes, 741 pounds oranges.
It will be seen that everything is sold by the pound as required by the government. Everything in this line was furnished by John Holland and, when it is considered that everything furnished corresponded exactly in weight with the figures of the government officers, it shows the enterprise and hustle required to fill a contract properly with the United States navy department.
The crews of these ships lived high while in this port, owing to the advantage of getting the best of farm produce and everything else that was needed. The crews of these ships say that at no other station of the government have they found better rations than was served while the ships were in this port.

Rolling the Parade Ground
The road roller has been sent over to the naval prison, where it is being used in the work of rolling down the new parade grounds and the road leading to the prison made by the prisoners.
Steam on the New Tug Tomorrow
Tomorrow steam will be started on the new tug Patapasco for the first time to give the boilers and pipe lines a steam test. Other than the work of installing the wireless telegraph system and some work of piping the tug is complete and is in every way a credit to the workmen of this station.

Work on the Eagle and Hist
The matter of beginning work on the gunboat Eagle is a little slow. Surveys and estimates on the U. S. S. Hist are being made in preparation of the needed repairs.
